

We Customized Programs To Satisfy Your Unique Needs

Religion can provide many benefits to individuals beyond a heavenly reward yet there is a mass exodus from many religious institutions. How can a religious organization connect with individuals in this age? How can we best help our followers live the lives they were born to live?

We no longer live in an age where most people remain in one place, attending the same services throughout life. We have access to more information. We see disparities that were invisible to prior generations. We see that those in charge are not always what we would wish them to be. They are men and women just like everyone else with shortcomings. Recognizing this, the next step is to recognize that some of what is turning the educated populace away from religion could be conflicting messages that may have been purposely interpreted incorrectly eons ago with the flawed interpretation passed down through the unquestioning ages.

One area where we believe this has occurred is consistent across six major belief systems. Recent science points us to a much more logical interpretation of passages. One that confirms God's love on a daily basis and which can increase faith so much that one can feel the certainty of a solid foundation.

Programs May Be Designed to:

- Understand that God has not (and never will) abandon anyone, even when bad things happen
- Differentiate between productive prayer and unproductive pleading (with a scientific basis)
- Increase the ability to connect with God's power for healing
- Understand how to love, as indicated in Corinthians
- How to hear God's messages
- How to be a catalyst for peace
- Increase resilience
- Decrease grief

Remember:
God is Love
